

Albury Wodonga

FoodShare

grow a row

Grow a little extra and help share fresh, healthy food with people across our community.

Taking part in Grow a Row is easy. Simply plant an extra row of your favourite vegetables, fruit or herbs in your backyard, school or community garden.

When it's time to harvest, donate some of what you've grown to Albury Wodonga FoodShare, where it can be shared with local people and families.

No room to grow at home? You can still get involved. Donate any produce you have to spare, or volunteer in FoodShare's community garden at Wodonga TAFE and help us grow fresh produce for our community.

Grow a Row is even better together. Encourage your neighbours, friends, family, school, workplace or community group to get growing too.
